The project

The objective of the project is to define the basis for a European training plan in ports that, while respecting the individual national regulations, identifies common applicable elements throughout the EU. The project will focus on the exchange of best practices on continuous training for the development of innovative professional skills on the following topics:

1) New port skills competences: a new approach for freight forwarders and stevedors and new skills related to energy transition

2) New port skills competences: digitalization and automation in ports and port education

3) New port skills competences: safety and security for passenger in cruise and commercial terminals

4) New port skills competences: safety and security in the port terminal organization. The impact of digitalisation, automation and environmental sustainability

Goals

One of the results of the project is to create a network with the partner of the project and other institutions to set up a technical board aimed at developing many initiatives.

The impact of the project at the local, regional, national, European levels is focused on developing skills and competences of port workers (manager, entrepreneurs, chiefs of HR, trainers, tutors, etc...) concerning:

- new professionals profiles discussed during the meetings;
- transferable analysis of units of learning outcomes in the port sector using procedures related to evaluation, transfer, validation and adding; of learning outcomes in formal, informal and not formal contexts
- information and diffusion to stakeholders and wide public;

- increased employability and social inclusion in the port sector.

Learning activities and exchanges

Exchanges of best practices will include meetings in partner countries from 3 to 5 days maximum. A maximum of 70 participants, divided between partner countries, may be involved during the project time. They will be selected in each partner country among port workers in port terminal, port authorities, port companies, maritime authorities depending the topics of the meetings.

The participants (30 from ports of Livorno and Piombino, 20 from Venice, 20 from Valencia, Sagunto and Gandia) belonging to the planned professionals and stakeholders will spend a short period of training called "Learning Teaching Training Activities" (3 days on average) organised through meetings divided in thematic fields in the ports of the country partners:

- 1 mobility in Valencia (17 participants)
- 1 mobility in Rotterdam (34 participants)
- 1 mobility in Venice (10 participants)
- 1 mobility in Livorno (9 participants)

The cost of the mobilities will be covered by the project through standard costs: 275 euro for the flight and 106 euro/day for the stay.

Duration: October 2019 – October 2022
